June is always a bittersweet month in the academic year. We welcome new residents but we say goodbye to many residents and fellows as they embark on their respective journeys after graduation. In this edition of the Graduate Medical Education newsletter, we reflect on and recognize the value they provided to our organization during their training. While some of these residents will stay with our organization, some will travel far and to different parts of the country. No matter where they go, we hope the training they received at HealthPartners will be valuable in guiding them towards fulfilling, well-balanced careers.

In this issue, we honor our graduates, reflect on our clinical learning environment based on the ACGME Resident and Faculty surveys, celebrate academic successes from our programs and focus on medication safety for our patients.

As we transition into the next academic year, please take a moment to welcome our new residents and congratulate those who are graduating!

Kelly & Felix
Trainees, coordinators and the OHPE staff got together for some food and fun at the Regions Hospital courtyard on June 8th during the resident/fellow appreciation picnic at Regions Hospital. The event was organized by the Office of Health Professional Education to celebrate with graduates. In this issue, we recognize the Regions Hospital sponsored program graduates with information about what they intend to do next in their careers. Join us in congratulating the graduates!

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES!

2016-17 ACGME Resident & Faculty Survey Results

Each year the ACGME surveys residents, fellows and clinical faculty to assess the clinical learning environment focusing on the following areas: Duty Hours, Faculty, Evaluation, Educational Content, Resources, and Patient Safety/Teamwork.

The results of the 2016-17 ACGME survey for the HealthPartners Institute-sponsored training programs are included in this newsletter. Overall, the results are very positive and above the national mean. Thank you for your contribution to our positive learning environment.

Publications:

Antimicrobial resistance has been recognized by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the World Health Organization as both a “major public health issue” and “one of the three greatest threats to human health”.¹ Appropriate use of antimicrobials delays the development of resistance, and studies have demonstrated that requirement of indications on antimicrobials can decrease inappropriate use. ² To support antimicrobial stewardship efforts and best serve our patients, Regions Hospital is introducing medication indications within the electronic health record for antimicrobials prescribed for patients being treated with Regions Hospital and HealthPartners Specialty/Surgery Center.

As of June 21st, 2017, indications will be required for all IV, IM, oral, and enteral antimicrobials.

- For antimicrobials that are part of order sets for specific indications, the indication will be pre-selected.
- For all other orders, the person ordering the antimicrobial must choose an indication from a pre-determined list or “other” to type in additional information for antimicrobial selection.

Here is an image of the indications and how it will look on the MAR:

This change will not only support the antimicrobial stewardship program at Regions and the HealthPartners enterprise as well as aligning Regions with the metro standards as this is a requirement at many other local organizations.

For further detail on all of the efforts related to supporting antimicrobial stewardship, please check for upcoming myLearning trainings by searching for “Antimicrobial Stewardship”.

Please send any additional questions to Dr. Becca Peglow (Sarah.R.Peglow@HealthPartners.Com) or Mary Ullman, PharmD (Mary.A.Ullman@HealthPartners.Com).

VisualDx

VisualDx contains the world's largest medical image library and can help with challenging dermatology, ophthalmology, and general internal medicine cases. Search by symptom, drug, diagnosis, or use the differential builder. This resource is quite popular across HealthPartners. The librarians would like to know how VisualDx helps our clinicians across the organization. Drop us a quick email with your thoughts and comments about VisualDx.
The following link can be used within the network. VisualDx is also found on the library site and EPIC.
